

Church of St. Martin-in-the Fields | 8000 St. Martin's Lane | G. W. and W. D. Hewitt | 1895. This stone High Victorian Gothic church was built by William C. Mackie for Henry Howard Houston, as part of his planned development which he called Wissahickon Heights. The Woodwards changed the name of the community to St. Martin's after the name of the church. Numerous alterations to the church have occurred over the years, including the 1894 addition of a choir room (G. W. and W. D. Hewitt), a baptistery in 1898-1889 (Theophilus P. Chandler), and a new chancel in 1901 (Chandler). The Church underwent a major interior renovation in 2001.
