

Margaret Esherick House | 200 block, Sunrise Lane | Louis I. Kahn | 1960-61, 1963
Louis I. Kahn, one of one of the world's most influential 20th century architects, designed this house for Margaret Esherick, niece of prominent Philadelphia woodworker Wharton Esherick. Listed on the Philadelphia Register of Historic Places, it is one of very few of Kahn's residential designs that has ever been realized.
