There are prerequisites that a location must meet before becoming eligible for a piece of the cash award.

For example, any qualified museum must have an annual operating budget exceeding $100,000.

Each suitable location must also have at least one full-time staff member.

"Pennsylvania's wonderful museums and historical societies continue to preserve and share the state's rich history and culture through the stories they tell," said Governor Tom Wolf. "These funds, awarded to museums and historical societies across the commonwealth, at a time when many of our cultural and historical institutions have been severely impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic, will help ensure these facilities are able to continue serving as educational resources for all Pennsylvanians."

A county-by-county breakdown of each grant-receiving museum includes:
